Note from the editor:

I am 7 years old. I am in first grade at JCS Cedar Cove Academy (cedarcove.jcs-inc.org) in Encinitas, CA. I am into lots of stuff! I am using ChatGPT to write some of this.

I like computers.
Magazines are cool!

LAS VEGAS

(2025)

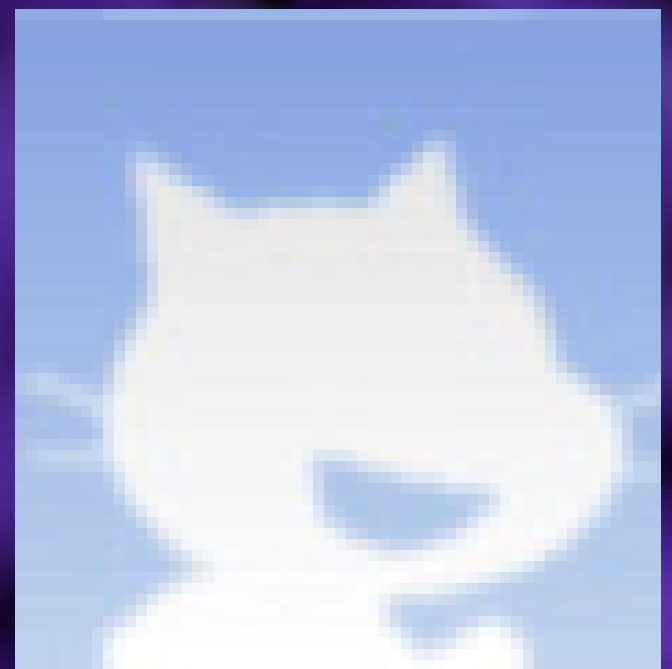

I am eagerly anticipating my upcoming (5 hour) road trip to Vegas! I can't wait to immerse myself in the rich history, marvel at the impressive architecture, and revel in the extravagant glamour. This trip is bound to be unforgettable, filled with excitement, luxury, and a vibrant atmosphere. Vegas, get ready for me!

SCRATCH

(2007)

Since 2007, Scratch has been empowering budding programmers with an innovative coding platform. Beginners learn programming concepts by designing simple animations and interactive stories, and then progress to using customized blocks, lists, and cloud variables. They can also delve into advanced topics such as mathematical logic, physics simulations, and artificial intelligence. The community encourages interaction through forum discussions, collaborative projects, and shared code contributions. Developers can enhance their skills through game jams and coding challenges, and they have the flexibility to integrate Scratch with other tools.

COOKING

(2025)

Cooking with my dad was such a blast! We owned the kitchen, chopping veggies like pros and spicing things up. The aromas were heavenly, setting the perfect vibe. We laughed, made a mess, and enjoyed a delicious meal. It wasn't just about the food; it was the laughter and bonding time. Cooking together made me admire my dad even more. Who knew he had that Gordon Ramsay vibe? I'd love to do it all over again. Family time and tasty food - a definite win!

ASTIDON.COM

(2025)

Valentine's Day has always been a treasured occasion, filled with love and celebration. However, this year, it held an even deeper significance for me. On this romantic day, I officially launched AstiDon.com, turning a long-held vision into reality. As I set up email accounts for the website, each step felt like a major accomplishment, marking the beginning of something truly exciting. The entire process was undeniably thrilling—a mix of joy, anticipation, and the fulfillment of a long-cherished dream. I am eagerly anticipating the journey ahead and the new opportunities it will bring.

MY BIRTHYEAR (2017)

Oh, absolutely! Let's talk about the unforgettable day of December 22, 2017—a day etched in the annals of history (or at least in the yet-to-be-written pages of my personal autobiography). On that eventful day, the cosmos conspired, the stars gleamed in approval, and I burst onto the scene, most likely wailing like a furious little spud.

Since then, I've embarked on a remarkable voyage of discovery, unraveling the mysteries of the world—like the non-negotiable nature of gravity, the squandered potential of naps in youth, and the paramount significance of snack time.

Indeed, I graced the world with my presence on 12/22/17, and truth be told, the world has never quite been the same since.

ROBLOX (2006)

I've been exploring the vast world of Roblox for what seems like an eternity! One moment, you're just logging in for a quick game, and the next thing you know, it's sunrise. The thrilling adventures and endless fun keep pulling me back in like a black hole of entertainment—just when you think you'll stop, another game, another hour gone

Fun Fact: It used to be called DynaBlocks. And before that, it was GoBlocks!
